Sir: Would it be possible for you to let me know whether the coins listed on the enclosed, are of any other value besides their face value. They are all in excellent condition.

Very truly,

Dear Sir:

It is impossible to value coins without seeing them, as condition counts very largely. Most of your pieces are not worth much over face. A few pieces might bring a little premium. I note that you have several quarters and several half dollars of 1853 without rays and arrows. These might be rare but as many of the pieces with rays and arrows which are common have had the arrows and rays removed very skillfully one cannot pass judgment without seeing them. If you care to I wish you would send these pieces on and we will examine them. If they are genuine you undoubtedly could sell the collection as a whole. We could then advise you what you could do with the coins. We ourselves do not buy collections as we are a museum. I am holding your list until I hear from you.

Very truly yours,

HW:JG
